Dear Sir,-

I am directed by the Minister of Education to write you in regard to the question of selected passages for memorization in English Literature for the examinations of 1915 and subsequent years. Enquiries have already been made by both teachers and University Registrars. Accordingly, in order that prompt action may be taken the Minister would be pleased to consider at the earliest possible date the lists of passages proposed by the Universities for the aforesaid purpose. At the conference held last December it was proposed, the Minister understands, that in this matter the Department and the Universities should make a common prescription.

From the Departmental correspondence connected with the selection of the passages for 1914 it appears to be the wish of the teachers that the number of lines selected for each year for each of the Middle and Upper School examinations should not exceed three hundred and fifty (350).

I have the honour to be,

Dear Dr. Colquhoun:

I would suggest that Professor Alexander might be asked to meet with a representative from the Department of Education to deal with the question of preparing selected passages for memorization in English on the examinations of 1915. I think that he would be accepted by all parties in the Universities. If this is agreeable to you, I will communicate with Dr. Alexander.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,-

I am directed by the Minister of Education to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th instant in regard to the Normal Entrance Examinations, and to make the following statement in reply:

In your letter you say that "the Universities always will desire to have a voice in determining the quality of the examinations which are set for entrance to their classes." If your scheme of an Advisory Committee implies that the members of such Committee would have any other than purely advisory functions, the Minister could not entertain your proposal. He cannot transfer to any other authority, or allow any other authority to share with him in, the responsibility for the qualifications of the teachers in the Public and the Separate Schools.

The Minister does not object to having the papers of his Examining Boards criticised by University men under proper conditions, but he would prefer to select his critics himself, after consultation, if deemed advisable, between the Department and the Chairman of the Matriculation Board. Moreover, if your proposal is accepted in any form, it would have to be understood that all transactions in connection with the examination papers would be wholly private whether the criticisms of the University representatives were accepted or not.

As a general proposition, your scheme appears to be a reasonable one, but serious and embarrassing difficulties might arise in carrying it out. It is, accordingly, necessary that the details should be thoroughly considered. The Minister will be glad to discuss the question with you at some time mutually convenient.

Dear Mr. President,-

The Minister has made inquiries of me concerning the case of Frank Moore, a student in the second year Arts. He is asking for some concession re examinations, in view of his illness from Scarlet Fever. May I trouble you to let us know the facts which have been very imperfectly imparted to the Minister thus far.

Dear Dr. Colquhoun:

I have made inquiries with regard to Mr. F. Voore. The Registrar of University College tells me that owing to the unsatisfactory condition of his work he was put on probation by the authorities of the College, and was afterwards asked to withdraw.

I understand that he is now endeavouring to secure a good standing on the plea of his having had scarlet fever, but the College authorities will be unwilling to recommend this, I am assured.

Yours sincerely,

President.

I hope that a satisfactory arrangement may be made to suit

Dear Sir:

In acknowledging on November 18, 1913, the receipt of a resolution of the Senate, passed November 14, 1913, in re the courses for Specialists and Inspectors, you requested a statement in detail of the "discrepancies and inequalities amongst the Courses of the various universities". Subsequent to the receipt of your request, the various courses of this university have been undergoing a revision which even yet is incomplete. This revision, it has occurred to me, would necessitate new agreements between the Department of Education and the University in the matter of the courses for specialists and inspectors, and the negotiations on the new agreements would afford an opportunity to discuss and remove the discrepancies and inequalities referred to in the Senate's resolution. For this reason I have thought it unnecessary to forward the complete detailed statement which you requested. But that the purport of the Senate's resolution may not be misunderstood, I append, ~~however~~, two typical illustrations of what was meant by "discrepancies and inequalities", in the hope that when the whole situation comes up for review by the Department of Education, it will be possible to discover some common principles which may apply to all universities. In the nature of the case, references to the courses presented at another university are unavoidable. It should be understood, however, that no complaint is here made that these courses are unsatisfactory, but rather that the conditions under which the Department's certificates are gained in this university are more exacting and onerous than in the other.

Very truly yours,

R.A.Falconer.
